

Helicopter Parents

What is iQ: smartparent?

iQ: smartparent is an Emmy-winning multimedia television and web series designed for parents that will empower them with new knowledge, tools, and abilities to successfully guide their children through the changing landscape of digital media and technology. It's a growing community of caregivers, national experts, educators, and parent bloggers who want to understand the opportunities and challenges of media as it relates to the development of their children. iQ: smartparent was created by WQED Multimedia in 2012.

About this Episode

This important episode of iQ: smartparent explores the crucial distinction between “parenting” and “over-parenting.” Experts reveal some of the most common well-intentioned – but damaging – mistakes parents make; and they explain how so-called “helicopter parenting” can lead to a child who struggles to adjust to school and social environments; and who does not build the necessary coping mechanisms to deal with daily challenges and disappointment. Learn how to achieve a healthy balance between “helping” and “helicoptering,” and parenting strategies to raise resilient and self-sufficient kids.

Discussion Questions

1. Why do you think parent sometimes become helicopter parents?
2. How does your family define success? Does this definition serve as a motivator or as a stressor?
3. What are some ways you can help your children become more independent?
4. Can you identify a time when you have been a helicopter parent? Brainstorm some ways you can change that scenario into one where you are being supportive of your child rather than “doing for” them.
5. What are some controlled experiences you have in place for your child that can help them develop resilience? For example, sports, art, science labs, etc.

iQ: smartparent is created with support from:

About the Guests

David Tabatsky is a writer, editor, and performing artist, based in New York City. His memoir, American Misfit, was released in 2017. He is the co-author of several books about cancer, including Rx for Hope, Reimagining Women's Cancers and Reimagining Men's Cancers, The Cancer Book: 101 Stories of Courage, Support and Love and the author of Write for Life: Communicating Your Way Through Cancer. He coauthored The Intelligent Divorce, The Wright

Choice: Your Family's Guide to Healthy Eating, Modern Fitness and Saving Money, and was consulting editor for Marlo Thomas and her New York Times bestseller The Right Words at the Right Time, Volume 2: Your Turn. David has performed as an actor, clown and juggler, at Lincoln Center, Radio City Music Hall, the Beacon Theatre and throughout the United States and Europe, most notably at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival, where THE STAGE wrote, "He is a supremely skillful performer and fine actor, reaching levels no other comics have matched at this Fringe." Please visit www.tabatsky.com

Dr. Rueben Brock is an assistant professor of psychology at California University of Pennsylvania. He is also a licensed counselor in private practice. He is a 20-year veteran of the mental health field and has spent most of that time working in mental health and drug & alcohol treatment. Dr. Brock's research focuses on issues related to Black culture and particularly Black students. Brock is also the host of a web show, House Call with Dr. Rueben Brock, which focuses on health and wellness issues, parenting, and issues related to adolescents.

Dr. George Glass is a medical doctor, a psychiatrist, and a specialist in addiction disorders. He has been a Clinical Associate Professor of Psychiatry at 3 different medical schools, has written over 30 papers and 2 books, and is one of the few physicians in the country who evaluate pilots for all the major airlines, the FAA, and the Airlines Pilot's Association. He has done forensic consultation as an expert witness around the country, and has dealt with adolescents, young adults, and adults who have had entitlement, maturational, and substance abuse issues. More importantly, he and his wife have a blended family of 5 children with his (1), hers(2), and ours(2) who are all independent, and successful, as well as 5 grandchildren. In his free time he skis, fishes, works out, bike rides, reads, and spends time with his family.